

The “Bucky” Award: $5,000 Recognizing Excellence in Animal Cruelty Investigations & Prosecution

NOMINATE A CASE THAT DEMONSTRATES EXCELLENCE IN ANIMAL CRUELTY INVESTIGATION!

Criteria & Eligibility

- All law enforcement, prosecutors and animal control departments in Washington State are eligible.
- The Bucky Award is given to the “team” who most successfully investigates and prosecutes an animal cruelty case. The award money is split between winning departments and must be used for further animal cruelty investigation related training, equipment or tools.
- For a case to be eligible for the 2017 Bucky Award, it must have reached a disposition in 2016

Apply Today!

- Submit your nominations with the following online form to begin the process:
<https://goo.gl/uwSWJr>
- An individual must be nominated by a citizen, an officer or a prosecutor who is not involved in the case being submitted.
- Deadline for nominations is June 30th, 2017.

Prior Bucky Award Winners:

2014-15: Whatcom Humane Society and Prosecutor Eric Richey

2013: Marysville Police Officers Dave Vasconi and Brad Smith and Prosecutor Jennifer Millett

2012: Port Orchard Police Sergeant Jason Glantz and Prosecutor Barbara Dennis

2011: Granite Falls Police Chief Dennis Taylor

2010: Snohomish County Deputy Michael Vafeados and Prosecutor Paul Stern

Funds are raised by Pasado's Safe Haven and its supporters.